WHAT IS THE NDIS?

The National Disability Insurance Scheme (NDIS) is a new way of providing support and services for people with disability or significant impairment under the age of 65. We have a range of approved NDIS services to help support you to live well.

OCCUPATIONAL THERAPY (OT) is all about supporting you to be as independent as possible to keep participating at home, work and in the community. This includes developing strategies to manage symptoms, prescribing assistive technology or designing home modifications.

Some of the problems OT services can help address:

- difficulty taking part in activities that are important to you at home, in the community or at work.
- symptom management including physical and cognitive changes
- difficulty walking and getting around

THE BENEFITS

- improve your mobility at home and in the community
- gain independence
- symptom management
- consider if assistive technology or home/work modifications will help you
- enable you to participate in activities that are important to you
